There is a possibility that one could get COVID-19 again with a strain of the virus whose genetic makeup differs from that to which the person was previously exposed

Times News Service

MUSCAT: Patients who've recovered from COVID-19 can still be infected by a different strain of the virus, an infectious diseases specialist at the Ministry of Health has said.

Asking people to be cautious against contracting the disease, Dr Abdullah Al Qayoodhi, a consultant on infectious diseases and head of the Infection Prevention and Control Section at the Ministry, said, "There is a possibility that one could get COVID-19 again with a strain of the virus whose genetic makeup differs from that to which the infected person was previously exposed."

"Everyone should understand this, as some believe that if they are infected with COVID-19 virus once, they will not be infected again," added Al Qayoodhi, who is also involved with the Directorate General of Disease Surveillance and Control.

"The people who believe this are also normally those who are indifferent to the dangers of the virus, and do not adhere to the precautionary measures by not wearing a mask, adhering to physical distancing, a refusal to avoid gatherings, or sterilising their hands."

The strains of the virus in Oman evolved from the original B strain, and include subcategories such as O, V, L, S, G, RG, and HG. Other variants present in the country are G, GH and GR, the last of which is responsible for community transmission.

According to data from the Ministry of Health, as of October 14, Oman recorded a total of

The Sultanate has recorded a total of 107,213 COVID-19 cases and 93,557 recoveries, reflecting a recovery rate of 87.2 per cent

107,213 cases of COVID-19, and 93,557 recoveries, reflecting a recovery rate of 87.2 per cent. 1,053 people in the country have died from the disease.

The doctor confirmed that there is more than one genetic strain of the virus in the country. The dominant variant causing COVID-19 in Oman is the one that came from China and passed through Iran.

Complications

"We know that one of the complications from COVID-19 is that it causes infections that could also occur in the brain, or strokes due to blood clotting. There are other complications such as diabetes, blood pressure, kidney failure and others," he added.

"There have been cases of some people who were infected with the coronavirus, but then did suffer from other diseases such as diabetes, pressure, kidney failure, and stroke after recovering from the disease. One of the reasons is that their genes are vulnerable to these diseases, so when they have infections or triggers for these genes, they develop the corresponding disease," he confirmed.

Opinion of parents sought in school reopening survey

Times News Service

MUSCAT: Parents of students attending Indian schools in Oman have been asked for their thoughts on sending their children back to classes, as part of a survey conducted ahead of their reopening.

The survey, which was conducted by the Board of Directors of Indian Schools in the Sultanate of Oman, also called for parents thoughts on the quality of online classes, their preferences regarding the physical reopening of schools, the hygiene measures they felt was appropriate to protect children during COVID-19, and even their preferred mode of transportation.

The survey made sure parents also included the opinions of their school-going children, with some questions directed at children, specifically in terms of the quality of online classes.

Among the more important questions asked to parents were when they wanted schools to reopen. Four options were offered: November 2020, January 2021, April 2021, or after a coronavirus vaccine came to Oman. Parents were also encouraged to provide any other suggestions related to reopening.

"I am against sending my children to school under the current circumstances," said Dr Ajith Kumar, whose children attend Indian School Seeb. "Schools are places of high concentration of people, and this could lead to possible infection. If my child gets infected and comes home and transmits that to the rest of the family, then we will have serious concerns."

"The board has to provide a multilateral option where it takes into account the opinions of all the parents, because our concerns are genuine," added Ragu Muthukumar, a parent of two children who go to Indian School Al Wadi Al Kabir. "The welfare of their children will always come first for any parent."

However, Ahmed Faisal, whose daughter went to Indian School Muscat, said, "My daughter plays with children below our building every day, and all of them are fine. The possibility of her catching the disease, whether at school or anywhere else, is the same, so as long as proper social distancing and other hygiene protocols are met, I am keen on her going back to school once it opens."

Schools are expected to reopen in Oman on November 1, having been temporarily closed to stop the spread of COVID-19 in the country. Curriculum has been taught through online classes since then, and parents and students were also asked what sort of learning method they'd like to be implemented. While the ongoing plan of online-only classes was offered, the other options made available were a blend of online and on-campus classes, lessons conducted at school alone, and the option of theory classes taught online and practical classes and exams attended at school. >A3

OMAN VISION 2040

SDGs integrated into Oman’s growth strategies

NEW YORK: The Sultanate has integrated the sustainable development goals (SDGs) into development strategies, and allocated funds for their implementation in the medium and long terms, as part of a major component of Oman Vision 2040.

Sayyid Ahmed bin Hamoud Al Busaidi, Economic Affairs Officer at the Sultanate’s permanent mission to the United Nations in New York, said that the Sultanate has formed a high-profile national committee to achieve the goals of sustainable development.

Inclusive

He pointed out that the committee includes members from relevant ministries and government agencies, the Council of Oman, representatives of the private sector and NGOs.

He further added that the Sultanate provided the opportunity for all segments of society to participate in setting their priorities and future aspirations when preparing the vision document (Oman 2040).

Al Busaidi, in a speech via videoconferencing before the Second

Committee of the 75th session of the United Nations General Assembly, said that it has established an integrated system for monitoring and evaluating the indicators of the SDGs and a methodology for measuring progress in achieving those goals.

Fulfilling obligations

Al Busaidi highlighted the Sultanate’s efforts to fulfil its obligations to implement the 2030 Sustainable Development Plan, referring to the voluntary national review it presented during the High-level Political Forum on Sustainable Development (HLPF) held last year.

He touched on the most prominent achievements made by the Sultanate in implementing the sustainable development plan.

Commitment

Al Busaidi concluded his speech by affirming the Sultanate of Oman’s commitment to support the efforts of the United Nations, as well as its continuous support for the work of this committee to successfully achieve its goals. -ONA

INDIAN SCHOOLS

< FROM A1 Different aspects weighed

“I have immense respect for the teachers who have had to learn to use the software for online learning in a very short span of time,” added Kumar.

“They have done a tremendous job in adapting to these sudden changes, and have gone on teaching our children despite all the challenges they have. As parents, we are unable to adjust so quickly to technology, so I can understand the difficulties faced by the teachers as well.”

Moinuddin Hassan, another parent whose children were part of the Indian school system, said, “Whenever we meet with other parents or the school management committee, I am always vocal in terms of raising the difficulties that many parents face right now, because the board must be aware of this. It would be good if the schools reopened, because a few parents cannot afford the technology required for online classes.

Another aspect of reopening on which opinion was sought was bringing back students in staggered phases, a subject on which many seemed to agree.

CAESAREAN SECTION:

PURPOSE, PROCEDURE, AND COMPLICATIONS

CAESAREAN SECTION OR C-SECTION delivery is considered as a safe and easy alternative to complicated normal delivery. There are various circumstances where C-Section deliveries are considered by obstetricians. After having multiple Caesarean deliveries, Caesarean Section becomes necessary. However, there are situations which arise before the delivery, where it may become difficult and risky. Such situations cause maternal and foetal complications. Advance planning becomes important to avoid any mishap. A good team including an obstetrician, an anesthetist, a neonatologist, OT technicians and nurses is essential.

What is Caesarean Section delivery?
The Caesarean Section or C-Section is a surgery which an obstetrician carries out by opening up the mother's abdomen and uterus.

Why are Caesarean Section performed?
This decision depends upon various health issues that a mother and baby are facing. Some of the common reasons are:

- If the first two deliveries have been by C-Section, then subsequent ones must be by C-Section only.
- If mothers are infected with HIV or Herpes, there are chances that they get transferred to the baby via natural birth.
- Under some co-morbidities like big babies of diabetic mothers and high blood pressure, C-Section is preferred.

- Opting to C-Section in case of any complications while performing normal delivery.
- Wrong position of the baby, large size of the baby, birth defects and irregular heartbeats in the baby.
- Placenta may be blocking the cervix.
- Placenta may separate from the uterus.

Complicated Caesarean Section deliveries
The reasons for performing C-Section may be complex and varied but as a procedure it is safe and simple which ensures healthy delivery. But, there are instances and medical conditions where Caesarean Section deliveries become complex and challenging. These complex Caesarean deliveries are carried out by skilled and experienced obstetricians with utmost planning and full-fledged operating environment with back-up of critical care. Enough emphasis is given on safety and well-being of both the mother and the baby.

What are the various complications in Caesarean delivery?
Placenta Accreta: It is a high-risk pregnancy complication. In normal circumstances placenta detaches from the uterine wall after childbirth. But in Placenta Accreta, part or all of the placenta remains attached to the site of previous scar in the uterus. This can cause severe blood loss after delivery. It is one of the complications of placenta previa and is handled by removal of the uterus (hysterectomy).

Adhesions of Urinary Bladder and Gut: The adhesions are bands of fibrous scar tissue that form on organs in the abdomen. They can cause organs to stick to one another or to the wall of the abdomen. In multiple C-Section the development of post-Caesarean adhesions are commonly found. This leads to many complications like bladder injury, bowel obstruction, and increased blood loss. It should be handled by an experienced obstetrician during surgery.

There are many other conditions under which the Caesarean Section becomes complex. Proper planning is of utmost importance to deal with such complex cases. With the clinical acumen of skilled obstetricians and advent of technology, complex C-Section deliveries are performed with high success rate.

Ruptured Uterus: It is rare but it happens if women try normal traditional delivery after two Caesarean Section. This can cause severe bleeding in the mother and can suffocate the baby. In such cases next normal delivery is totally avoided and C-Section is opted under high risk conditions with utmost planning.

What things one should keep in mind after Caesarean Section delivery?
It takes four to six weeks to recover from C-Section, in case the C-Section is complex the time to recover will go up. But with proper care and follow-up a mother can get back to normal condition with ease. One can do gentle exercises like walking but more intense exercises should be avoided till you are completely recovered and don't feel any pain. Have a balanced diet; a dietitian will give you a diet chart. Make scheduled visits to your doctor. Medical attention is needed if you have pain when you pass urine, if your pain is getting worse, if your tummy area feels sore or tender, you have an upset stomach, if your wound is red, swollen or painful, if you have a high temperature, if bleeding is still heavy after a week or gets heavier.

Significantly welcomed

The Wanderlust Oman team had started the diving sport in the past. The new sport has been significantly welcomed by girls to whom adventures have become an essential part of their lifestyle.

In this context, Aisha Al Ghailani said, "Diving is an enjoyable sport. I find it difficult to describe and it adds a new experience to me. As soon as you are under the surface of water, you get rid of speed that characterises our lifestyle today and get overwhelmed by unparalleled tranquility that you can never enjoy on land and you get to explore the depths and secrets of the seas. It has always been my dream, and it has come true with the Wanderlust Oman".

For her part, Aisha bint Suleiman Al Balushi said, "I found calmness in diving. I enrolled first to learn something new and spend my time with nature.

"I did not expect that diving will open new horizons in front of me to understand myself. I got to know the depths of the seas, which prompted me to be a part of preserving this beautiful marine environment, facing nowadays very difficult situation, in a time of global warming."

The Wanderlust Women's Team continues its plans in supporting women's adventure sports with its various activities, which make women today able to enter the world of the oceans with greater energy and determination. - ONA

MUSCAT: The Environment Authority has launched a campaign to plant 1,000 seedlings of mangroves in Khour Ghawi in the Wilayat of Al Jazer, Governorate of Al Wusta.

The campaign aims to increase mangrove forest areas and increase the biodiversity of marine life.

Badr bin Saif Al Busaidi, a specialist in nature reserves, stressed the importance of this natural resource, its impact on social aspects, and its great contribution to enriching biodiversity and creating a balanced environmental system that complements the surrounding ecosystems.

Al Busaidi added that the project for planting seedlings of mangrove began in 2001, and the Authority has already planted about 685 thousand mangrove seedlings at 32 locations across the Sultanate.

He added, "The studies and field visits showed a tangible increase in biodiversity due to the presence of the mangrove ecosystem in the lagoons. It contributed to the increase of wildlife species such as, crustaceans, mollusks and other small marine organisms that support the surrounding ecosystems."

He added, "It also contributed to the increase in the number of birds whose habitats depend on the mangrove environments".

The mangrove environments are among the most complex systems. It was recently discovered that they are among the largest ecosystems that store high amounts of carbon circulating in the atmosphere due to human activities. - ONA lishing laws, policies and regulations that guarantee the disabled's right to digital access and total ICT services.

Persisting gap

The report noted the persisting gap in levels of ability to execute procedures and the results received from ICT domains in the index this year.

The report urges all stakeholders to increase investment in enhancing global and multilateral co-operation to ensure the disabled's access in light of relevant international conventions and sustainable development goals (SDGs). - ONA

Azerbaijan strikes Armenian missile site amid cease-fire

Azerbaijan claimed that a ballistic missile system and a rocket system at the sites were targeting civilian areas

BAKU: Azerbaijan on Wednesday claimed that it hit two missile launch sites in Armenia, amid a bout of fighting over the disputed Nagorno-Karabakh regions.

Azerbaijan claimed that a ballistic missile system and a rocket system at the sites were targeting civilian areas.

Armenia's defence ministry confirmed that sites within Armenia had been struck.

It says it "reserves the right to target any military installations and combat movements on the territory of Azerbaijan."

A cease-fire between the warring neighbours was agreed on Saturday after 10 hours of talks, brokered by Russia.

Both sides have since claimed the other has violated the agreement.

Fighting broke out on September 27. Since then, more than 400 people have been killed in fighting over the contested region. Nagorno-Karabakh is officially part of Azerbaijan, but under control of ethnic Armenian forces backed by Armenia since the end of a separatist war in 1994.

Russian Defense Minister Sergei Shoigu appealed for the Azeri and Armenian defense ministers to "fully meet the commitments" of the humanitarian ceasefire.

Targeting civilian areas?

The missile launch systems were deployed in areas of Armenia bordering the Kalbajar district of Azerbaijan in the Nagorno-Karabakh region. The first launch site was aiming at the Azerbaijani cities of Ganja, Mingachevir and other populated areas, claimed the Azerbaijani defence ministry. There was no civilian infrastructure nearby, added officials.

"The attack was carried out based on the mere assumption that the subject equipment was allegedly going to strike at Azerbaijan's civilian settlements," defense ministry spokeswoman Shushan Stepanyan said on Twitter. aw

Lawyers plan to sue WHO for misleading the world over COVID-19 pandemic

Times News Service

BERLIN: A group of lawyers plan to sue the World Health Organization and some of its partners for supposedly misleading the world over the severity of the COVID-19 pandemic, and the measures taken to control it, which have damaged people's livelihoods and caused tremendous harm to economies.

The intention to do so was revealed by Dr Reiner Fuellmich, one of four members of the German Corona Investigative Committee, which since July 10, 2020, has been listening to large number of international scientists' and experts' testimonies, to find answers to questions about the pandemic, being asked by people worldwide. In a video released to his YouTube channel, in which he explains his intentions to sue, Fuellmich points the finger at Dr Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, the Director General of the WHO, Dr Christian Drosten, the head of virology at Berlin's Charité Hospital, and Dr Lothar Wieler, the head of the RKI, the German counterpart of the US Center for Disease Control, who he claims knowingly misled governments across the world.

"This corona crisis, according to all we know today, must be renamed a corona scandal, and those responsible for it must be criminally prosecuted, and sued for civil damages," he said. "On a political level, everything must be done to make sure that no one will ever again, be in a position of such power as to be able to defraud humanity, or to attempt to manipulate us with their corrupt agendas."

Seeking answers to three questions as part of his legal case against these individuals, Fuellmich plans on issuing a class-action suit in the United States against the trio.

"One: is there a corona pandemic, or is there only a PCR test pandemic, specifically, does a positive PCR test result mean that the person tested is infected with COVID-19, or does it mean absolutely nothing, in connection with the COVID-19 infection," he said, unafraid to mention alleged corporate greed in his lawsuit.

"Two, do the so-called anti-corona measures, such as the lockdowns, facemasks, social distancing, and quarantine regulations serve to protect the world's population from corona, or do they serve only to make people panic, so they believe without asking any questions, that their lives are in danger, so that in the end, the pharmaceutical and technology companies can generate huge profits from the sale of PCR tests, antigen and antibody tests and vaccines, as well as the harvesting of our genetic fingerprints."

"Three, is it true that the German government was extensively lobbied, more so than any other government, by the chief protagonists of the so-called corona pandemic?" he questioned. "Germany is known as a particularly disciplined country and was therefore to become a role model for the rest of the world, for its strict, and therefore, successful adherence to the corona measures."

One of Fuellmich's biggest concerns were over the collateral damage caused by the measures to stop COVID-19, in addition to seeking answers about how dangerous the virus truly is, and whether a person whose PCR test has come back positive is actually infected by the disease.

"Based on the rules of criminal law, asserting false facts concerning the PCR tests or intentional misrepresentation, as conducted by Messrs. Drosten and Wieler and the WHO, this can only be interpreted as fraud," he explained. "Based on the rules of the civil tort law, this translates into intentional infliction of damage."

He claimed that these people knew "the PCR tests cannot provide any information about infections, but asserted over and over, to the general public, that they can, with their counterparts all over the world repeating this."

"They all knew and accepted that based on their recommendations, the governments of the world would decide on lockdowns, the rules for social distancing, and the mandatory wearing of masks, the latter representing a serious health hazard as more and more independent studies and expert statements show," Fuellmich went on to say.

"Under tort laws, all those harmed by these PCR test-induced lockdowns are entitled to full compensation for their losses," he added. "In particular, there is a duty to compensate – that is a duty to pay damages – to companies and self-employed persons as a result of the lockdown and other measures."

"In the meantime however, the anti-corona measures have caused and continue to cause such devastating damage to the world's population's health and its economy, that the crimes committed by Messrs. Drosten, Wieler, and the WHO, must be legally qualified as crimes against humanity, as defined in Section 7 of the International Criminal Code," Fuellmich said.

Cricket season kicks off with Premier Division T20 League

With Oman pacers Bilal Khan and Kaleemullah likely to represent Alpha, it will be its bowling versus IT Works' batting

Times News Service

MUSCAT: When A Division champion Arm Alpha take on star-studded IT Works in a Premier Division T20 League opener tomorrow, nobody will quite know how the country's showpiece cricket competition will pan out without the participation of Passage to India (PTI) and Assarain, the top two teams of the last season.

Although all the star players from the two champion teams have joined most of the six premier sides in the tournament, it is still anybody's guess who will go on to claim the most coveted cricket trophy in Oman.

A much stronger Muscat CT, fancied Al Turki, AER and Renaissance complete the line-up

(Clockwise from the top) Twinkle Bhandari, captain Al Turki NMC, Jibran Yousuf, IT Works coach, Rajesh Kumar Ranpura captain Muscat CT, Sajeed Ahmed, captain AER

in which most teams fancy their chances of landing the T20 title. With Oman pacers Bilal Khan and Kaleemullah likely to represent Alpha, it will be its bowling versus IT Works' batting that includes big names like Zeeshan Maqsood, Khawar Ali, Adnan Ilyas, Muhammed Nadeem and Khurram Khan.

"Apart from a strong batting line-up, we have a lot of all-rounders in our squad which is sure to help us go after our maiden Premier League title. With the kind of team we have formed this season, we know we are among the title favourites and will doing everything we can to rise to the occasion," said Jibran Yousuf, coach and mentor of IT Works.

The afternoon game pits Al Turki against Muscat, which could well be a dress-rehearsal for a possible title showdown later this season. While Al Turki are bolstered by the inclusion of experienced shown great improvement in all areas of the game last season, we are confident of doing even better with a stronger batting and bowling unit," added Bhandari, who has also played for Oman.

The tournament is sure to provide a big platform to some of the best young players in the country and many of them have been picked up by AER

The tournament is sure to provide a big platform to some of the best young players in the country and many of them have been picked up by AER, one of the two teams, along with Alpha, to have been promoted from A Division.

"Our team is full of young players, mostly from under-19 and under-16 age groups, who will be playing alongside some very good senior cricketers. These young players want to play fearless cricket and I am sure they will be helped by their seniors in the squad. It will be our common goal to fight hard without thinking too much about the end result," said AER captain Sajeed Ahmed, who has stuck to the same squad that won the team promotion to Premier Division after emerging as A Division runner-up.

AER's Danish Mohammed was the A Division's highest scorer with 482 runs in 7 games including two hundreds and 27 sixes in the competition last season.

Renaissance completes the six-team T20 league which will be followed by the fancied 50-over league next year. Premier Division T20 League games on Friday, October 16 at Oman Cricket Ground 1 in Amerat: Arm Alpha vs IT Works (8.45 am). Al Turki NMC vs Muscat (1.30 pm).

Misbah-ul-Haq steps down as Pakistan chief selector, remains coach

ISLAMABAD: Misbah-ul-Haq has stepped down from his role as the chief selector of the Pakistan men's team, and will focus on coaching duties alone.

Misbah, the former captain, took over the dual role for Pakistan in September last year, being in charge of both selecting and coaching the team. He was appointed coach with a three-year tenure, a few months after the team, under Mickey Arthur, missed out on a semi-final spot in the ICC Men's Cricket World Cup.

Misbah said he had been feeling pressure in his bid to conduct both responsibilities. His decision may also have been influenced by PCB's new code of ethics ratified in July 2020, which aims to put greater emphasis on resolving issues of conflict of interest.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed the dual roles but after reviewing the past 12 months and looking ahead at the workload in the next 24 months of my tenure, it is appropriate that I invest and dedicate all my time, energy and attention to one role from now on," he said.

A PCB release stated that a new chief selector will take over responsibilities on 1 December, until which point Misbah will continue to perform the role.

Pakistan have had mixed results under Misbah's coaching tenure so far, winning seven of their 19 matches since he took over and losing nine.

Perhaps the most surprising result was the 3-0 loss at home to Sri Lanka in T20Is soon after he took over. They have shown encouraging signs more recently, drawing their away T20I series against a dominant England side 1-1. They lost a Test on that tour by a slim margin and drew the other two games.

Misbah now aims to build on the base to help Pakistan scale into the top three of the MRF Tyres ICC Men's Team Rankings in each of the three formats.

"I'm satisfied with the manner in which the team is progressing. A lot of players have come into the setup and sealed spots. The mission now is to guide Pakistan into the top three in every format," ICC

Portuguese Football Federation then said that other players later underwent new tests and all tested negative.

Neymar bags hat-trick as Brazil sink Peru in World Cup qualifier

LIMA: Neymar netted a hat-trick as Brazil twice came from behind to beat Peru 4-2 in their World Cup qualifier here on Tuesday.

Everton forward Richarlison also struck for the visitors while Andre Carrillo and Renato Tapia were on target for Peru at Estadio Nacional.

Neymar's performance saw him overtake Ronaldo as the second-highest scorer in the 106-year history of Brazil's national team. The Paris Saint-Germain forward has now scored 64 times in 103 appearances as he bears down on Pele's mark of 77 goals set almost half a century ago.

The result came four days after Brazil started their qualifying campaign with a 5-0 win over Bolivia in Sao Paulo. The Selecao lead the 10-team CONMEBOL zone standings while Peru, who drew 2-2 with Paraguay in their opening match, are eighth.

Carrillo shocked the five-time world champion when he gave Peru the lead after just six minutes, thumping in a 20-yard effort after a timid Marquinhos clearance. Selecao manager Tite was forced to replace Marquinhos with Rodrigo Caio just minutes later after the Paris Saint-Germain center-back limped off with a leg-muscle injury.

Brazil struggled for cohesion in midfield but drew level against the run of play courtesy of a Neymar penalty after he was pulled down by Yoshimar Yotun.

Peru regained the lead just before the hour mark when Caio headed out of the 18-yard box only to see the ball fall to Renato Tapia, whose volley flew into the net following a deflection.

The goal spurred Brazil into action and Richarlison squared the ledger again by bundling in at the far post after Roberto Firmino met a Neymar corner with a looping header.

Luis Abram then clattered into Everton Soares and Chilean referee Julio Bascunan did not hesitate to award a penalty. Neymar again converted the spot-kick by sending Pedro Gallese the wrong way.

Peru was reduced to 10 men in the 89th minute as Carlos Zambrano paid the price for a recklessly hitting Richarlison in the face while attempting to protect the ball.

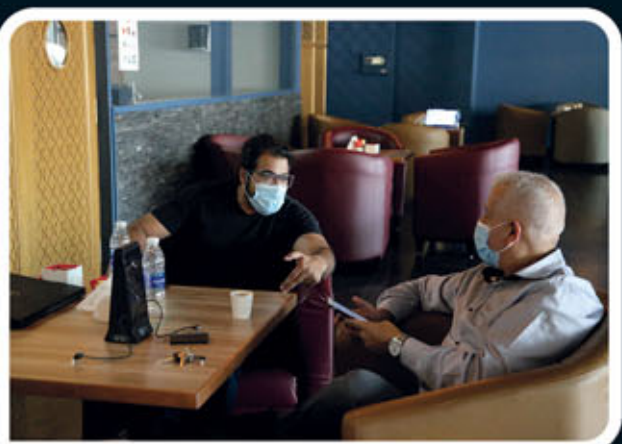

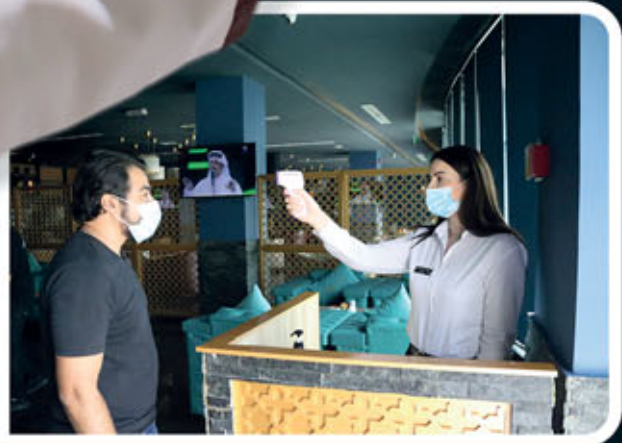

The visitors completed the rout in the fourth minute of stoppage time when Everton's chipped effort rebounded off the post and into the path of Neymar, who had the easiest of tap-ins. Xinhua

ECONOMIC RECOVERY

IMF warns of rising financial vulnerabilities

WASHINGTON: The International Monetary Fund (IMF) on Tuesday warned that financial vulnerabilities have continued to rise since the COVID-19 pandemic's outbreak, which could create headwinds to the uneven global economic recovery.

"Since the COVID-19 outbreak, vulnerabilities have continued to rise. Triggers such as new virus outbreaks, policy missteps, or other shocks could interact with preexisting vulnerabilities and tip the economy into a more adverse scenario," the IMF said in its newly-released Global Financial Stability Report.

"In such a scenario, more widespread bankruptcies could lead to a repricing of credit risk, tightening of bank lending standards, and a renewed sharp tightening of financial conditions," the report said. "The rise in financial vulnerabilities increases the likelihood of adverse macro-financial feedback loops in response to negative shocks, potentially requiring further liquidity and solvency policy measures," the report said. - Xinhua

Sustainable finance poised for growth in Middle East

Times News Service

MUSCAT: A global survey released by HSBC shows how sustainable finance is gaining momentum in the Middle East, with 'values' the main driver among of issuers of bonds, loans and other securities in the region.

The HSBC 2020 Sustainable Finance and Investing Survey also highlights how the Middle East sustainable finance market is at an earlier stage of development than markets such as Europe, Asia and North America, with some contrasting results between investors and issuers.

Among issuers in the Middle East, 93 per cent say environmental and social (E&S) issues are important to them — but only 65 per cent of investors feel that way (compared to the overall global average of over 90 per cent). Within these majorities, the shares saying

E&S issues are 'very important' are also lower than in other regions. Furthermore, just 7 per cent of investors say they always take environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into consideration in their investments and few support environmentally or socially desirable projects at the risk of lowering their returns.

Firm-wide policies

However, it should be noted that a large share of investors in the Middle East (41 per cent, more than anywhere else) are intending to develop firm-wide policies on responsible investing or ESG issues. Among investors who already have these policies in place, very high numbers seek out material ESG issues when they invest and incorporate impact goals. Middle Eastern investors are also very optimistic about the benefits of ESG - more in this region than elsewhere see the potential for ESG strategies to outperform.

Gareth Thomas, HSBC's Regional Head of Global Banking for the Middle East, North Africa and Turkey, said, "The results of the HSBC Sustainable Finance and Investing Survey reflect what we are seeing on the ground, with Middle East green and sustainable bond issuance so far this year up nearly 50 per cent on total issuance in 2019. 2019 saw nearly 60 per cent growth in 2018. The green agenda is here to stay so it is imperative that investors and issuers in the Middle East engage on the topic to better understand how they can capture the economic as well as environmental and social benefits of more sustainable business models."

The last few months have seen the region's sustainable finance market deepen and become increasingly diversified.

India's wholesale inflation rises in September

NEW DELHI: India's wholesale price index (WPI) rose to 1.32 per cent in September, data released by the federal commerce and industry ministry said on Wednesday.

"The annual rate of inflation, based on monthly WPI, stood at 1.32 per cent (provisional) for September 2020 as compared to 0.33 per cent during the corresponding month of the previous year," a statement issued by the ministry said.

The increase has been attributed to the rising food prices ahead of the festival season.

September's increase has marked a second straight month in which wholesale prices moved higher, amid supply disruptions despite the strategic lifting of restrictions imposed in late-March to curb the spread of the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. In August the WPI stood at 0.16 per cent.

Until August, wholesale inflation had remained in the negative territory (deflation) for four months in a row. Wholesale deflation was estimated at 1.57 per cent in April, 3.37 per cent in May, 1.81 per cent in June and 0.58 per cent in July.

In September, wholesale inflation in food articles stood at 8.17 per cent, in contrast with 3.84 per cent in the previous month, the data showed. - Xinhua

ART Fertility Clinics celebrate Omani Women’s Day with special campaign

MUSCAT: To celebrate the strength, empowerment and success of women and to bring inspiration and hope for women looking to experience motherhood, ART Fertility Clinics, previously known as IVI-RMA Middle East have initiated a special campaign that offers a 50 per cent discount on the first consultation.

The campaign runs from October 17 – 31 and will offer women an opportunity to seek medical help with additional focus on In-Vitro Fertilisation (IVF) techniques that would allow them to experience motherhood.

“The special campaign crafted for Omani Women’s Day celebrates every woman’s dream of experiencing motherhood. While it offers them a chance to seek expert advice on irregular periods, hormonal imbalances, urinary incontinence, body weight, thyroid problems and hypertension, which are prime factors for infertility, it will also provide them in-depth information and insights on these issues and the way forward to be able to solve these problems,” said Dr Francisco Ruiz, Medical Director of ART Fertility Clinics, Muscat.

“In today’s time, there have been significant advances in fertility treatment. These new techniques give women more options than ever before. But these techniques will only help women if they are educated enough about their fertility to seek timely advice and make informed decisions. As such, Art Fertility Clinics recommends and encourages women to be better informed and empowered with a consultation this Women’s Day,” added Dr Ruiz.

Art Fertility Clinics (previously known as IVI Middle East Fertility Clinic) made its foray into the Middle East a couple of years ago and within a short time has become one of the top-rated and most trusted IVF institutions in the UAE and Oman. The clinics have already celebrated many successful pregnancies and delivered the highest success rate of over 70 per cent.

STRENGTHENING ENVIRONMENTAL COOPERATION

be’ah and Authority for Public Services Regulation sign MoU

MUSCAT: be’ah and the Authority for Public Services Regulation have recently signed an MoU to support the authority’s ‘Kafaawa Ata’a’ initiative. From the Public Services Regulation Authority, the Chairman Sheikh Dr Mansour bin Talib Al Hinai signed the pact with be’ah’s CEO Eng. Tariq bin Ali Al Amri.

According to the agreement, both parties will work on strengthening environmental cooperation by supporting green initiatives that help transform a linear economy to a circular one and reduce the increasing amount of generated waste across the Sultanate.

“This MoU aims at supporting ‘Kafaawa Ata’a’ initiative which was launched by the Authority for Public Services Regulation in collaboration with Dar Al Atta’a Charity and be’ah. Our part of the agreement will be ensuring safe and efficient disposal of used air conditioners by directing this waste stream to a local certified dismantling facility that follows strict regulations and policies. be’ah is currently exploring the market for SMEs to run recycling facilities for this specific type of waste,” said Kumayl bin Ahmed Al Lawati, Head of Business Development at be’ah.

Amal Shihab Al Zadjali, Communication and Media Manager at the Authority confirmed, “The MoU will support the initiative which aims at providing high-quality air conditioners to families in need with the goal to reduce their energy consumption. We trust that this initiative will have a great impact as all collaborators are experienced in initiatives that give back to the environment and the community.”

Najahi Talks discusses legal aspects of buying and selling businesses

Najahi Talks is an important part of Bank Muscat's strategy to support the growth of SMEs to benefit the national economy

MUSCAT: In line with its commitment to strengthening support to Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs), Bank Muscat's Retail Enterprises unit (Najahi) recently organised a discussion on the legal aspects to be considered while buying and selling a business.

The online session, which was telecast through the bank's social media channels was moderated by Abdullah Al Jufaili, Head, Retail Enterprises Unit (Najahi), Bank Muscat, and hosted Basma Al Kiyumi, lawyer and the founder of the BK Legal Consultancy. The session dealt with a number of important topics, which have to be considered while starting, buying or selling a business.

Basma Al Kiyumi, who is authorised to practice law in the courts of England and Wales and Oman and is also the author of the book, The Constitutional Experience in Oman, spoke about the legal aspects and considerations that must be taken by sellers and buyers of commercial projects. She pointed out how it was important to know both the business and legal details before making any decision.

of a neutral third-party who can evaluate a business deal objectively and prepare a fair evaluation that takes into consideration the price of different assets, liabilities, disclosures and the like. She explained that a deal should be evaluated both at the commercial level and from a legal standpoint.

Many a time, buyers do not thoroughly read and evaluate the preliminary agreement with the seller and are in a rush to conclude the deal. The buyer later discovers many obligations and liabilities that were not considered while agreeing on the deal.

many, and the buyer must be aware of all of them when negotiating with the seller so that additional financial burden is not incurred. Basma explained that in cases where a buyer encounters a problem, he/she must review the terms of the contract and try to resolve it satisfactorily. But in the case of undocumented liabilities, it can be difficult to reach an agreement with the seller, especially in cases where the validity of the legal agreement between both parties has expired. She answered questions on situations where an undisclosed liability surfaces after the sale process. Basma also discussed if the seller can revoke any personal or commercial guarantees with financing institutions after the sales and whether the original owner would be liable in case the company failed to clear its liabilities in the future after the sale process.

Basma pointed out that insurance coverage could be available for the business and explained that it was important to organise this coverage for the business as well as employees and the projects that the business dealt with to prevent unexpected losses. She also answered a number of relevant questions from the audience during the session.

Speaking about the success of Najahi Talk, Abdullah Al Jufaili, Head, Retail Enterprises Unit (Najahi), said, “We are pleased to continue Najahi Talk sessions through the bank's social media platforms every month for the benefit of entrepreneurs. These virtual sessions enjoy a great following from our customers and the general public and they are able to gain immense knowledge through the same. Najahi will continue to facilitate these knowledge-sharing sessions on different topics of interest to entrepreneurs. The entire discussion has been uploaded on Instagram for the benefit of viewers who were unable to catch the event live.”

Najahi Talks is an important part of Bank Muscat's strategy to support the growth of SMEs to benefit the national economy. Bank Muscat offers non-financial support to SME entrepreneurs through knowledge-sharing sessions such as Najahi Talks and Maharat Min Google. Najahi Talks sessions are usually held in the first week of every month and details are updated on the bank's social media accounts for the benefit of those who are interested in participating in these knowledge-sharing sessions.

SPORTSCAR

The Ferrari F8 Spider: Evolution of species

MARANELLO: Ferrari has unveiled the F8 Spider, the new generation drop-top sportscar equipped with the most successful mid-rear-mounted V8 in history. The Ferrari F8 Spider was designed in parallel with the F8 Tributo Berlinetta and features the Prancing Horse's compact and efficient RHT (Retractable Hard Top) which influences the lines of a model that leads its category.

The F8 Spider is the latest addition to an exclusive and prestigious bloodline of open-top V8 cars begun with the 308 GTS in 1977. It is less extreme than the 488 Pista Spider but sportier than the 488 Spider which it replaces in the range.

Consequently, the F8 Spider sets a new benchmark for the “en Plein air” sports car in terms of usable performance and exceptional handling, providing an incredibly rewarding driving experience. It excels in merging handling dynamics with surprising in-car comfort. This Ferrari spider thus combines the characteristics of the most lauded 8-cylinder engine in history with unparalleled driving pleasure.

The V8 has raised the performance bar to unprecedented new heights, not only for turbo engines but power units of all types.

The mission of every new model produced by Maranello is to introduce new design features and outperform its predecessors on all fronts. The challenge the engineers and designers always face is to push their creative limits and the boundaries of technology by introducing new, leading-edge solutions and setting new levels of excellence. This is something they have done to brilliant effect once again with this new model.

The F8 Spider replaces the 488 Spider and improves on all aspects of its specifications: aside from the fact that its engine delivers an extra 50 cv, the new Ferrari is 20 kg lighter than its predecessor. It weighs just 20 kg more than the more extreme 488 Pista Spider. The F8 Spider is significantly more aerodynamically efficient, too and features the new 6.1 version of the Side-Slip Angle Control system.

HIGH SPEED SERVICE

Omantel, Cisco partner to provide Meraki WiFi solutions

MUSCAT: Omantel, the nation's leader in providing telecommunications and integrated communications and information technology services - announced its cooperation with Cisco International to provide 'Meraki WiFi' service to 'Omantel's SME and corporate customers. The service offers an ideal choice for high speed and high capacity WiFi service.

Agreement

Commenting on the signing of the agreement, Baha Mohammed Ridha Al Lawati 'Omantel's Vice President of Enterprise Business Unit, said, “The signing of this agreement comes within the framework of 'Omantel's strategy in building partnerships with major global technology companies and providing advanced products to various customers from the public and private sectors. Omantel has established this partnership with Cisco International to bring the latest technologies that help companies and institutions, including SMEs, enhance their business operations and support their digital transformation journey. The introduction of this service cements our leading position in the telecommunications and digital transformation in the Sultanate.”

Access points

“Traditional WiFi solutions require having a talented and well-trained IT team to install and operate the service. As for Meraki, which is the easiest solution to implement WiFi, only access points will be installed, after which the customer will be able to manage their dashboard on the Internet. Customers can expand as much as possible without any concern about the capacity of the WiFi controller.

“Commercially, Meraki WiFi service does not require large investments in the infrastructure compared to traditional solutions as it leverages cloud offering and does not require installing on-premise controller and other management systems,” he added.

In turn, Ali bin Mohsen Al Lawati, Cisco's Regional Director in Oman and Yemen, said, “We are proud to work with Omantel to provide Meraki service in the Sultanate, which will help government institutions and private sector companies to get streamlined and convenient Internet service in new branches and locations.”

He pointed out that this service helps institutions and companies get analytical reports on network usage and, therefore, make well-informed decisions.

Ali Al Lawati added, “This system is unique in many aspects, such as providing customers with the ability to prepare their reports to know their needs based on the data on the dashboard. For example, organisations need to add an access point or increase capacity in specific access points, or even limiting some applications that consume a lot of volumes. The organization can also control the end-users who use their Wi-Fi network in terms of data capacity and applications that use large bandwidth. This would help companies use the communication infrastructure efficiently.”
