MORE THAN 1,200 PRIVATE COMPANIES APPLY FOR COVID VACCINES IN OMAN

The ministry plans to distribute all the vaccines to the companies by next month

Times News Service

MUSCAT: More than 1,200 companies have applied for COVID-19 vaccines in Oman, according to a senior official at the Ministry of Health. The ministry plans to distribute all of the vaccines due to the companies by July.

Speaking exclusively to the Times of Oman, Ibrahim Al Rashdi, the Assistant Director for Medical Supplies at the ministry, said companies began submitting vaccine requests in the first week of May of this year.

"There was a great turnout from private companies and institutions," he said. "Before the end of the registration period on 10 June, we received requests from more than 1,200 organisations. We have about 500 companies that have reserved less than 120 doses, at the rate of two doses per head, and about another 500 that have reserved less than a thousand doses," he added.

"The most vaccines reserved by a single company was one that has about 5,000 employees working in the private sector," he added. "Because of this, we have received funds ranging from OMR40 for two doses for a single employee, to more than OMR200,000, which was intended to vaccinate these 5,000 private sector workers."

Cut-off date

Companies began receiving vaccines after the registration cut-off date, said Al Rashdi. He added that between 200 and 300 organisations have been given their COVID vaccines, and efforts are also underway to supply to other companies that have registered.

In the beginning of the vaccination drive, priority was given to private sector firms operating in essential fields, such as oil and gas, ports, airports, and the banking sector. >A2

34 flights from India carried 141 passengers

All the passengers who arrived were from the category not covered by the ongoing entry ban like Omani citizens, diplomats, healthcare workers, and their family members

Times News Service

MUSCAT: Only 141 passengers have travelled to Oman from India, on the 34 flights that operated between June 7 and June 13, 2021, according to data published by the Civil Aviation Authority.

All of the passengers who did arrive in Oman are from the category of passengers who are not covered by the ongoing entry ban.

Categories of people excluded from the entry ban include Omani citizens, as well as diplomats, healthcare workers, and their families.

Oman Air operated 14 flights, on which a total of 58 passengers travelled to Oman. This included 14 citizens and 44 foreign nationals, at a rate of less than five passengers a flight.

SalamAir organised just the one aircraft, on which two Omanis returned home.

On board eight Air India flights were a total of 34 passengers, 33 of whom were foreign nationals, while on 11 Air India Express flights between the two countries were 45 foreign nationals and two Omani citizens.

"The Civil Aviation Authority would like to note that flights between the Sultanate and the Republic of India operate in accordance with the decisions issued by the Supreme Committee to deal with COVID-19," said the CAA in a statement.

"The main objective of these flights is to transport citizens of the Republic of India wishing to return to their country and to ship health supplies and goods necessary for Oman, in addition to facilitating the return of citizens, diplomats and health workers from the Republic of India to Oman.

The CAA added, "competent authorities in Oman are also monitoring the small number of Omanis, diplomats and health workers coming to Oman on these flights, who are not allowed to board the flight without testing negative for COVID-19 at the departure point.

"Then, they are re-examined upon their arrival in Oman, and they are quarantined in accordance with the health regulations, and re-examined for a third time on the last day of the quarantine period."

MINISTRY OF HEALTH

< FROM A1

Pfizer vaccine to cost OMR46

Explaining how the ministry distributed vaccines to private sector firms, Al Rashdi said, "a team specialising in processing requests from companies studies all the registrations we receive, and then provides companies vaccines based on the stock we receive, while making sure the vaccination drive for the rest of our society is not affected.

"The efforts to provide immunity against COVID-19 have not been made just for the sake of buying vaccines for private sector employees," he added. "The Minister of Health has stressed that vaccinations will be free for all locals and residents in Oman, but we hope that organisations that wish to participate in these efforts will look at it as a kind of social responsibility, which will help support the government, and also prioritise private sector workers when it comes to distributing COVID vaccines to them."

"There is no obligation for private sector companies to contribute to the immunisation project against COVID-19," said Al Rashdi. "We asked them to not take the amount due for the vaccine from their workers, but rather contribute towards the vaccines themselves, so that they can vaccinate all their employees."

Aside from the cost of OMR20 for a single dose, and OMR40 for two doses of the Pfizer vaccine, a fixed administrative fee of OMR3 per dose has been agreed upon, so that prices are not manipulated and people's desire to get the vaccine is not exploited.

While OMR40 is transferred to the Ministry of Health's bank accounts, the OMR3 that is paid to healthcare centres per dose needs to be paid when private sector employees are administered the vaccine. Should it be found that hospitals are charging people more than the required OMR3 fee, the specialists in the ministry will conduct the required investigations to find out why.

To make sure companies are updated about when their vaccines will reach them, confirmatory emails are sent to all organisations that have reserved their doses. However, he added that some did not receive their confirmation, because when they filled out the online vaccine request form, they may have made mistakes such as entering the wrong company email address.

Disbursement schedule

"We cannot verify whether company emails are correct, so companies that do make mistakes are alerted that there is an error in the data they have sent us," explained Al Rashdi. "A weekly disbursement schedule is prepared for the approved private health centres, which have signed agreements with companies to provide vaccines to their employees at a specified time and date. Accordingly, we calculate the amount of vaccines we need to distribute daily. The distribution schedule is sent out at least a day before companies are set to receive their vaccines, and a copy is sent to each company that has registered as well."

However, the 600 or more companies that have each booked less than 120 doses for their staff will not receive a copy of the receipt. Instead, this will only be sent to the healthcare centre, which will coordinate directly with the relevant companies.

Companies that booked before 1 June will receive their full quota of vaccines by this week, while those that booked between June 1 and 10 will get their required doses in the last week of June and first week of July.

"There are some companies that are essentially consist of a single individual - they had booked less than 10 doses, so they will need to coordinate with Oman International Hospital, which will communicate directly with them," said Al Rashdi.

"After the distribution lists have been made, we will not talk to the company to reserve doses for its employees, but instead discuss this directly with the healthcare centres. Both Pfizer and AstraZeneca are available to private sector employees."

Ibrahim Al Rashdi also expressed his deep thanks to all companies in the private sector which contributed to the COVID-19 immunisation efforts by vaccinating their employees, in order to preserve their health and keep their families safe.

"This will ensure the continued progress of our economy, and help develop our various resources," he added, while also thanking the Minister of Health and all those who worked hard to provide vaccines for private sector organisations.

Sultanate’s COVID-19 vaccination tally crosses half a million people

Of the 535,578 people vaccinated since the start of the national immunisation drive in December, 350,957 have received the first dose while 184,621 have been given both the doses

Times News Service

MUSCAT: More than half a million people in Oman have been vaccinated against COVID-19, which represents 15 per cent of the population within the target vaccination groups.

Since the start of the national immunisation campaign against COVID-19 in December, 535,578 people have been vaccinated. Among them, 350,957, or 66 per cent of recipients, have been injected with a single vaccine dose, while 184,621 people have been given both the doses.

The Ministry of Health continues to encourage people who have received their first dose at least 10 weeks ago to go to their nearest vaccination centre to be given their second dose, if they are eligible. So far, 720,199 vaccine doses have been administered.

Currently, employees of the public sector are among those being administered the first jabs of the vaccine.

This comes as part of the Ministry of Health’s efforts to vaccinate everyone in the country aged 12 and up, which represents 70 per cent of the national population.

In stages

This vaccination drive will be rolled out in stages, depending on the arrival of vaccines, and in keeping with the timeline established under the national immunisation campaign.

THE ROAD TO CAREER DEVELOPMENT

What exactly are the markers of the road to career development? And how do you reach the desired destination? Like any other journey, it can seem long and daunting. However, when broken down into steps, it doesn't seem too unattainable.

Understanding yourself
The first step is all about understanding yourself – self-assessment. It's your life, after all. So, you need to take a good look at yourselves to make an informed career decision. This involves asking various questions regarding your preferences, skill sets, values, motivations, likes and even dislikes. You can do this step on your own informally or with formal external help – be it through aptitude tests, career assessments or a career counsellor.

Gathering information
The second step is what you do with all this information. Usually, by the end of the first step, you will have a fair idea of the subjects, fields or careers suited to your personality. Armed with this understanding of yourself, you can now begin to explore the world of opportunities. This means collecting as much information as you can on various courses, subjects and jobs. You will also need to collect data on the admission criteria and the preparation required, like entrance examinations.

Analysing gathered data
The next step is to assimilate. From all of these data and options, what suits you best? Which of these will you enjoy? Where do you think you can contribute most? Hold your self-analysis against the prospects available and find what matches. These steps of exploration and assimilation require access to a lot of Armed with this understanding of yourself, you can now begin to explore the world of opportunities.

information, which may be a hard task for a person to handle alone. So take the help of family, friends, social media, or even professionals like career counsellors. Connect with people who have experience in the industries/fields you have chosen. Seek mentors to help you and support you in this process.

Making a decision
Now, you move onto an important stage of making the decision. Based on the data you have collected, you come to the point of final selection. For example, if you are looking for higher education, you have to now freeze on a major, and finalise a few choices of courses or universities offering this major. Also, you may explore options for financial support.

Implementing the choice
Once a choice is made, you enter the action stage where there are practical things to be done. In the case of higher education, you will be required to submit applications, and undergo admission interviews and complete other administrative formalities. If the university is in another country, you will have to take care of visa formalities and arrange financing as well.

Continual evaluation
Your journey does not stop with one choice; continual evaluation too is a very crucial next step. At the end of every life stage like high school, undergraduate, postgraduate or job, keep checking in with yourself to ascertain that you are on the right track. Imagine yourself at a height, looking back to where you came from and visualising where you want to go further. From this height, you can see clearly what you might have missed while you were on your journey. You can also see different routes ahead than initially decided. Begin a new round of the process from the very first stage every time you aim to grow higher. Where are you on your journey? Wherever you are, I hope this helps and wish you all the best.

IMPORTANT DAY

World Sea Turtle Day, a timely reminder that Oman's sea turtles need saving

WITH ITS PRISTINE beaches and balmy waters, the Sultanate offers the ideal home for sea turtles. In fact, it hosts the second largest population of Loggerhead sea turtles in the world, one of the most important nesting areas for Green turtles across the northern Indian Ocean, in addition to two other species (Hawksbill and Olive Ridley) that return annually to nest on its long stretch of coastline. As we celebrated World Sea Turtle Day on June 16th, our attention is drawn to this remarkable species, which has lived in the world's oceans for over 100 million years, and which faces various threats. A combination of disturbances like coastal development and beach driving, bycatch (accidental capture of turtles in fishing nets), ghost fishing, light pollution, plastic pollution and climate change are negatively impacting the sea turtles habitat and ecosystem, with each of the four species found in Oman now listed as threatened (either vulnerable or in some cases critically endangered), on the IUCN Red List, a global repository that categorises the conservation status of different species. Last year, researchers published the disheartening finding that there has been a 79 per cent decline in the nesting population of Loggerhead turtles on the island of Masirah, a traditional stronghold over the past few decades. For the last 13 years, the Environment Society of Oman, in collaboration with the Environment Authority have been trying to counteract this loss, for the sake of conserving the species, of maintaining a healthy marine environment, and of preserving the socio-economic balance of communities. This long-term programme has been funded by the US Fish and Wildlife Service and implemented with the help of local collaborators including Five Oceans Environmental Services LLC and Future Seas SPC. "Sea turtles play an important role in maintaining healthy ocean ecosystems, as well as being integral to the very delicate food chain. This of course has huge implications for fishing communities, not to mention those who rely on income from turtle-related tourism," said Suaad Al Harthi, ESO's Executive Director. "The situation is extremely worrying, yet it is these communities who are now helping us to rectify it. This is why, as well as our research work, we put significant effort into engaging locals, to raising their awareness of the importance of marine turtles, and garnering their support on key conservation actions. Through a holistic community approach, we aim to work together to reverse the declining trend". As such, ESO has spearheaded a range of activities including dedicated net clean-ups, awareness videos, community outreach programmes, and several publications. On the ground, it has assembled a field team of Masirah island residents to monitor and protect populations, part of its mandate to train and hire Omanis in conservation strategies, community engagement and NGO management, as well as supporting the livelihood of local communities. The field teams are also supplemented with graduates from ESO's capacity building program. These efforts are growing year on year, as ESO focuses on engaging and inspiring the next generation. Meanwhile, it continues to accelerate knowledge and understanding of turtle biology, ecology and conservation needs, as well as raising the international profile of Oman's turtles. "ESO will forever advocate for our precious marine turtle populations, but our challenges are far from over. We have to continue this momentum and we know it is only with the involvement of the local community, and by promoting this culture among young people, our future environmental ambassadors, that we can be successful in conserving our natural resources and ensuring that they are still around for future generations," added Suaad.

Biden, Putin face off at long-awaited summit

The leaders' first in-person meeting, which is taking place at a lakeside villa, comes amid soaring tensions between the two countries

GENEVA: US President Joe Biden and his Russian counterpart Vladimir Putin kicked off a highly-anticipated summit in Geneva on Wednesday.

The leaders' first in-person meeting, which is taking place at a lakeside villa, comes amid soaring tensions between their two countries.

Opening the talks, Putin said he hoped for a "productive" meeting, while Biden said: "It is always better to meet face to face."

There were low expectations of a breakthrough, with a string of contentious issues on the agenda. But both sides have said they hope the meeting can at least lead to more stable and predictable relations. Swiss President Guy Parmelin is acting as host during the talks, which are scheduled to last four to five hours.

What is on the agenda?

Biden and Putin are likely to discuss a raft of issues, including arms control, cybercrime, Ukraine, Belarus, election interference and the coronavirus pandemic.

The US president is expected to broach the imprisonment of Russian opposition leader Alexei Navalny, although the Russian side has said that is an internal matter that Putin won't be drawn on.

DW correspondent Alexandra von Nahmen says cybersecurity will be at the top of the agenda.

"There have been a few quite far-reaching cyberattacks in the US recently, some of them having Russian fingerprints on them, so the Biden administration is calling on Russia to do more to deter such attacks from within its borders," she said.

Relations between the two countries deteriorated following Russia's 2014 annexation of Crimea from Ukraine, and amid US allegations that Moscow meddled in its 2016 presidential election.

The situation worsened after Biden called Putin a killer in March, prompting Russia to recall its ambassador from Washington. The US then recalled its ambassador from Moscow. The possibility of returning the diplomats to their respective posts may also be on the agenda.

What do observers say about the talks?

US Council on Foreign Relations senior fellow Chris Kupchan told DW the two leaders are "not coming in looking for a bromance like Trump and Putin," but Biden could "invest in some kind of working relationship with Putin."

"Biden is much more worried about China than he is about Russia. And I'm guessing that Putin is growing quietly uncomfortable with China. So part of this conversation might be about trying to improve the Western relationship with Russia in a way that contains China's leverage and gives Moscow a little bit of breathing room in its relationship with Beijing," he said. DW

SANCTIONS

EU agrees fresh curbs on Belarus over Ryanair flight diversion

MINSK: European Union member states agreed to impose fresh sanctions on Belarus on Wednesday over last month's forced diversion of a Ryanair flight and arrest of dissident journalist Roman Pratasevich, according to diplomats cited by news agencies.

The sanctions have been approved by EU ambassadors and are expected to be adopted by the bloc's foreign ministers next week. Reuters cited a diplomat as saying the new measures targeted at least seven individuals linked to the Belarusian aviation sector. The EU has already blocked Belarusian airlines from flying to the bloc and stopped carriers from the 27 member nations from using Belarusian airspace.

Longtime Belarusian President Alexander Lukashenko sparked international outrage by sending a fighter jet to intercept a Ryanair flight traveling from Athens to Vilnius on May 23. Authorities arrested journalist Pratasevich and his girlfriend Sofia Sapega on board after the plane's arrival in Minsk.

Sanctions following Lukashenko election

EU officials also signed off on a fourth package of sanctions on Wednesday — including asset freezes and travel bans — against more than 70 people in response to last year's presidential election, diplomats said.

Most of the targets are reportedly accused of helping to crack down on anti-government demonstrators, opposition figures or journalists.

The bloc has already placed 88 individuals — including Lukashenko and his son — on an asset freeze and visa ban blacklist.

Lukashenko won by a landslide in a presidential vote in August which the opposition and Western governments say was neither free nor fair. DW

Germany and Hummels caught in the eye of Pogba’s French storm

France burst into life when Pogba picked out the run of Bayern Munich’s Lucas Hernandez with the outside of his boot spells of pressure, Hugo Lloris was never tested in the French goal and Kylian Mbappe threatened to wrap it up on the break, seeing a goal disallowed before being denied by Hummels’ desperate lunge. France were again denied the second in the dying minutes when Mbappe squared for Benzema to tap home, only to see the flag raised again. But the world champions had done enough. With European champions Portugal up next, Joachim Löw’s goodbye is in danger of being significantly shorter than he would wish.

EURO 2020: While Germany had a few brief spells of pressure, Hugo Lloris was never tested in the French goal and Kylian Mbappe threatened to wrap it up on the break.

Kimmich out of position Much of the talk pre-match had concerned the role of Joshua Kimmich, Germany’s unofficial captain and feisty all-rounder, equally comfortable in central midfield or as a right wingback. In the end, it was the latter. “He’ll have more chances to get forward,” Löw had explained, the plan being to pin down French left-back Hernandez. And Kimmich made his intentions clear as early as the seventh minute, when he was booked for an unnecessary foul on his Bayern teammate in a harmless position in the French half. But he wasn’t there when it mattered. When Pogba launched the move for the deciding goal with that wonderful pass with the outside of his foot, Kimmich was stranded in the center, Hernandez crossed and Hummels could only shin the ball past Manuel Neuer. Germany punished by French ‘individualists’ It had been coming. Ever since Kimmich’s yellow card, France had laid their cards on the table.

“How do you intend to deal with Germany’s forwards?” head coach Didier Deschamps had been asked in an interview in the build-up to the tournament. His slightly bemused response: “You should ask Joachim Löw how he wants to deal with ours.” And whether with neat combination play between Antoine Griezmann, Benjamin Pavard, and N’golo Kanté down the right, or the electric Kylian Mbappé cutting in from the left, they were proving their coach right. “Going forward, the French are individualists, they pop up everywhere and anywhere and create chances with their individual qualities and creativity,” Löw had said. But how Germany could have done with some of that themselves. Löw has not ceased to emphasize the positive atmosphere and team spirit in the German camp, which Hummels also attested was much improved from the debacle in Russia in 2018. But you need more than good vibes to beat this French team. Havertz was guilty of losing possession, Kroos was slow to move the ball forward and, without a recognized striker, the closest Germany came were headed half-chances from Hummels and Müller and a scuffed volley from Gnabry. The plan to exploit France in behind the fullbacks wasn’t working, and there was no sign of a plan B. Leroy Sané and Timo Werner replaced Serge Gnabry and Kai Havertz with 15 minutes remaining – like for like changes, albeit with added pace and penetration. The better option to close the gaping hole between Germany’s midfield and attack would have been Leon Goretzka, but the Bayern Munich man wasn’t fit enough to make the matchday squad. French thunder and lightning And all the while, the French threat on the counter-attack loomed large and omnipresent, with the imperious Pogba the thunder in midfield and the lightning bolt provided by Mbappe. On the first occasion, Mbappe twisted and turned and danced through the German defense before curling past Neuer – but he’d been offside in the build-up. When Pogba launched the next breakaway, Benzema overhit his ball to Mbappe, but the young Parisian ignited the turbos to race past Hummels, who recovered in the nick of time with a brilliant slide tackle. Third time lucky? Pogba sent Mbappe flying again but he was marginally offside again, and Benzema’s finish from his cross was correctly ruled out. But France had done enough. mw

PORTUGAL VS HUNGARY

Ronaldo’s historic brace powers Portugal to 3-0 win over Hungary

BUDAPEST: Defending champions Portugal kicked off their campaign with a 3-0 victory against Hungary on Tuesday in the ongoing Euro 2020. Portugal talisman, Cristiano Ronaldo who was playing his record fifth European Championship tournament stole the headlines with a late brace in the match as his two goals in the victory took him to 11 -- the most goals scored in the Euro’s history before Raphael Guerreiro deflected shot opened the scoring for the 2016 champions just six minutes before the full-time against the home team. Hungary started the match on a good note in front of 60,000 capacity Puskas Arena as they stopped Portugal from converting their chances, with Ronaldo, Diogo Jota, and Bernardo Silva all guilty of squandering opportunities before the break. The second half witnessed more ball possession and aggression from the home team as they looked to surprise Portugal’s defense in their flashy counter-attacks. Deep in the second half, away team frustration increased as Manchester United’s Bruno Fernandes went close with an effort from outside the box and producing a great save from Hungary’s goalkeeper Peter Gulasci. With the match going towards a goalless draw, reigning champions shifted their gears against lethargic Hungary as Borussia Dortmund’s

Guerreiro broke the deadlock with a deflected finish before Ronaldo took the matter in his own hands. After dispatching a clinical penalty into the bottom-right corner, sending Gulasci the wrong way, he played a lovely couple of one-tuos with Rafa Silva as he took the ball around the goalkeeper and slotted it into the back of the empty net in the additional time. Portugal now sits at the top of the board in Group F before they take on Germany in Munich on June 19 while Hungary’s next game is against France on the same day. ANI

Miranchuk’s goal helps Russia defeat Finland

SAINT PETERSBURG: Aleksei Miranchuk struck a lone goal as Russia defeated Finland in the Group B encounter of the ongoing Euro 2020 here at the Krestovsky Stadium on Wednesday. Russia will next lock horns against Denmark on June 21 while Finland will square off against Belgium on the same day. The first half had seen no goals but in the additional time of the first time, Russia managed to get the lead as Aleksei Miranchuk netted the ball into the goalpost, giving Russia a 1-0 lead. Finland tried their best to get the equaliser in the second half, but they were unable to do so, and in the end, Russia ended up registering a 1-0 win. With this win, Russia rose to the second spot in Group B with three points from two games while Finland is at the third spot with as many points from as many games. In the entire game, Russia had three shots on target while Finland had just one shot on target. In terms of ball possession, Russia dominated and as a result, Finland did not get a chance to run away with the game. ANI

XGT OPEN SERIES

Al Faisal confident of a good outing at Spa

MUSCAT : It has been a month since Al Faisal al Zubair of Oman and his teammate, Andy Soucek of Spain, made a memorable start to their campaign in the 2021 International GT Open Series at Circuit Paul Ricard in France. The Lechner Racing duo surprised their much-experienced rivals in the double-leg opener by clinching a podium (third place) in race two of the opening round on May 16 after finishing fourth in the first race a day earlier. Racing in a Porsche GT3-R car, the 23 year old Al Faisal was satisfied with the opening round performance and is now looking ahead to better that display in the second round of the seven-leg series, which will be held at the famous Spa-Francorchamps circuit in Belgium from June 18-20. Ahead of the second round, Al Faisal said, “It was a great experience at Paul Ricard the first round of my debut championship series. The results, myself and Andy have achieved, in the opening round have given us the confidence to aim for better results in the series ahead.” The former double Porsche Middle East Challenge Series champion admitted that ‘the GT Open series provides one of the toughest campaigns in endurance racing with the world’s leading teams competing in it.’ Backed by Oman-based Al Manar Financial Investments, Al Faisal said that their ‘team is now looking to capitalise on their good start to the series’. “Our goal is to aim for more championship points and be as consistent as possible,” he said. The pair has garnered 18 points after the first two races and is placed third in the championship standings, just three points behind the leaders – Frederick Schandorff-Michele Beretta of Vincenzo Sospiri Racing. Team Lazarus Bentley pair of Jordan Pepper and Ivan Peklin is second, also with 21 points. “This is our debut campaign and we are not pushing for lofty targets but we will attempt to take each round as it comes. The plan is to give our best and pick up as many points possible after each round. We have a long championship ahead. More podiums will be the key and this is what we are aiming for during our campaign,” said Al Faisal. The Omani driver expressed optimism on an improved display at Spa as he has competed at the circuit quite a few times in the past. Al Faisal has sweet memories of his participation in the Porsche Mobil 1 Super Cup from 2017-2019 and believes that the track time spent in the past will give him a bit of comfort.

Al Faisal said that ‘finishing on the podium at Circuit Paul Ricard on debut was a great feeling’ and feels that the start to their campaign has been great along with the Spanish former Formula 2 champion Soucek. “To achieve the results in Pro class with a new endurance series team of Lechner Racing was really special,” he added and hoped that they would give many more reasons to celebrate in the series ahead. The duo will have their opening free practice session on Friday before the first qualifying session is held on Saturday morning followed by the opening 70-minute race. The second race will be held on Sunday with the qualifying session in the morning. Championship standings (after first round): 1 Frederick Schandorff-Michele Beretta (Vincenzo Sospiri Racing, 21 points), 2 Jordan Pepper-Ivan Peklin (Team Lazarus Bentley 21 pts), 3 Al Faisal al Zubair-Andy Soucek (Lechner Racing 18 pts).

INITIAL PUBLIC OFFERING

Three Mena region IPOs raised $294.8mn in 2021 first quarter

DUBAI: The Mena region saw three IPOs raise total proceeds of $294.8 million during the first quarter of 2021, a 64 per cent drop in proceeds raised when compared with the same period in 2020, according to the EY Mena IPO Eye Q1 2021 report. The three issuances were in the transport, power and utilities and real estate sectors.

Despite expectations for an increase in activity after an uptick in issuances in Q4 2020 - which saw four IPOs and $925 million in proceeds - the IPO market in the Mena region had a slow start to 2021. Continued uncertainty around the impact of the ongoing pandemic has affected the Mena markets even as oil prices have continued their recovery and vaccination rollouts have been gaining speed across the region.

Globally, Q1 2021 has been the best-performing first quarter by deal number and proceeds in the last 20 years, despite the trend of Q1 being a slower period. The first quarter of 2021 saw 430 IPOs - compared to 233 in Q1 2020 - as well as $105.6 billion in proceeds, up 271 per cent when compared to the same quarter last year. The surge in momentum can be attributed to the ample liquidity in the financial systems; the accelerated growth of technology and new economy companies propelled by the pandemic; speculative and opportunistic transactions; and platforms that have made retail investing more accessible to the general public and young generations.

Matthew Benson, EY Mena Strategy and Transactions Leader, says, "The Mena region's IPO market was off to a slower than expected start in 2021, despite expectations for an increase in IPO activity after an uptick and stronger performance in Q4 of 2020, with total proceeds down by 64 per cent in Q1 2021 when compared to the same period last year. The three IPOs during this quarter, which raised a total of $295 million in proceeds, demonstrated strong investor demand in the market, particularly in KSA - hence we expect IPO activity to bounce back over the coming months while economic conditions in the region continue to improve, aided by the accelerated vaccine rollouts and the possibility of reaching herd immunity against COVID-19."

Oman: Reforms at the MSM

In Oman, the Muscat Securities Market (MSM) has been converted into a closed joint stock company and rebranded as the Muscat Stock Exchange (MSX). Under the new reforms, the MSM is now under the ownership of the state-owned Oman Investment Authority, which itself was established last year following the merger of the State General Reserve Fund and the Oman Investment Fund, to own and manage most of the country's sovereign wealth fund and finance ministry assets.

Saudi Arabia continues to have the most active IPO market in Mena

The Saudi Stock Exchange (Tadawul) continued to be the Mena region's top listing venue in Q1, with two listings totalling $281.6 million, which represented 96 per cent of the total amount raised by Mena IPO candidates during the quarter. The previous year, it had four listings totalling $1.45 billion, representing 78 per cent of the total amount raised by Mena IPO candidates in 2020.

The first listing on the Tadawul for 2021, Alkhorayef Water & Power Technologies, raised $144 million by floating 30 per cent of its shares. The offering was heavily oversubscribed, with the retail offering being oversubscribed by 1,511 per cent and the institutional offering by 6,320 per cent.

That IPO was followed by that of Theeb Rent a Car Company, which offered 30 per cent of its shares to the public and raised $138 million. As with Alkhorayef Water & Power Technologies, the Theeb IPO was heavily oversubscribed, with strong demand leading to an oversubscription of 6,010 per cent for the institutional tranche and 3,385 per cent for the retail offering.

EURO 2020

Ronaldo becomes first player to feature in five Euro Cup finals tournaments

BUDAPEST: Portugal striker Cristiano Ronaldo on Tuesday became the first player to feature in games at five Euro 2020 finals tournaments.

He achieved the feat after being named in Portugal's playing XI for the match against Hungary in Budapest, reported Goal.com. Ronaldo has represented Portugal in five Euros and his first appearance came way back in 2004 when Portugal had hosted the tournament.

In 2016, Ronaldo was able to win the tournament with Portugal after his side defeated France in the finals.

Portugal is placed in Group F of Euro 2020 alongside Hungary, Germany and France. This group is also being seen as the 'Group of Death'.

Ronaldo has won five Ballon d'Or in his career so far and he currently has nine Euros goals - equal with France's Michel Platini as the most in tournament history.

The 36-year-old has scored 104 goals for Portugal and is just six goals short of becoming the all-time highest international goal scorer. -ANI

ROUND-UP

Omantel, Huawei to jointly establish regional ICT training centre in Oman

The centre will be housed at Omantel HQ and offer training in 5G, AI, IP, and IT to support Oman’s digital transformation

MUSCAT: Oman’s leading telecommunications services provider Omantel, and Huawei, a leading global provider of information and communications technology (ICT) infrastructure and smart devices, have collaborated to establish a regional ICT training centre to support talent development in Oman. The Huawei regional ICT training centre aims to advance new technologies further and support achieving Oman’s Vision 2040, where building a knowledge-based economy is a key pillar. The Huawei training centre will be located at the Omantel headquarters in Muscat where other tech facilities, including the Omantel 5G Exhibition hall, Huawei HQ online exhibition hall, and the Huawei ICT Academy in Oman are also housed. The Huawei ICT training centre will also collaborate with entities such as the Centre for Research and Innovation and the Duqm 5G Exhibition Hall. Eng. Saeed bin Hamoud al Maawali, Minister of Transport, Communications and Information Technology (MTCIT) said, “Partnerships between the public and private sectors are one of the key elements towards achieving our national digital transformation plans. The collaboration between Omantel and a global leading technology company such as Huawei will strengthen our future generation’s skills in the ICT field, build the ICT ecosystem and in turn, boost our nation’s digital economy.” On his part, Talal Bin Said Al Mamari, CEO, Omantel, said, “We are pleased to partner with Huawei on establishing this centre as we both aim to upskill the youth of Oman and provide them with the necessary tools to participate in Oman’s development journey. We look forward to further strengthening our long-standing partnership with Huawei to develop Oman’s ICT talent and support them in realising their full potential.” He further added, “Omantel, as an ICT leader, has been playing a vital role in Oman’s digital transformation. Oman Vision 2040 has set digitisation objectives with which Omantel has aligned its multifaceted strategic growth and investment. Omantel sees itself as an important enabler of change and a platform for knowledge, which will give the young generation the power and expertise to propel Oman towards sustainable, holistic growth. This centre will be a milestone in Oman and

Omantel’s ICT goals.” Robin Chen, Oman Huawei CEO, said, “The ICT training centre demonstrates Huawei’s commitment to build and nurture local ICT talents in Oman for a fully connected intelligent society. We are proud to establish the training centre at Omantel’s headquarters, where we look forward to bringing our global expertise to build ICT and talent pool ecosystem and contribute to the realisation digital transformation ambitions of Oman Vision 2040.” Chen added, “The ICT training centre will provide training services not only to our local enterprise customers but also to our partners, customers, and staff in the Middle East region, offering them the opportunity to learn, and experience the latest advanced technologies, such as 5G, AI, IP, and IT as part of our support for their digital transformation journeys as well.” The Huawei ICT training centre will also be leveraging various facilities including the ICT Exhibition Hall, Omantel 5G Exhibition hall, Huawei HQ online exhibition hall, and the Huawei ICT Academy in Oman. The establishment of the ICT training centre is a solid example of collaboration between the two entities.

GLOBAL MODEL

Toyota Supra: Rule the road with icon

MUSCAT: The Supra name evokes the power, performance, and handling that defined a succession of world-class cars for a quarter of a century, which built a reputation both as formidable performers on the road and all-conquering machines on the racetrack. The Supra is the Toyota global model developed entirely by GAZOO Racing (GR). The team has been developing its cars and people through its participation in motorsports with the goal of making ‘ever-better’ cars ever since first competing in Germany’s 24 Hours of Nürburgring endurance race in 2007. The Supra’s 3.0-litre turbocharged engine produces up to 335hp and 51 kg.m. of torque. The torque comes on strong even from very low engine speeds, thanks to a combination of a twin-scroll turbocharger, direct fuel injection, and continuously variable timing on both the intake and exhaust camshafts. The 8-speed automatic transmission delivers speedy up and downshifts, and features paddle shifters for manual control when desired. The Supra’s Sport Mode sharpens throttle response, changes steering wheel characteristics and improves transmission shift crispness. Meanwhile, Traction Mode can be activated as part of the Vehicle Stability Control System to provide track-driving capability by reducing the intervention of the traction and stability control functions. Launch Control is available only when the vehicle is in Sport modes. The frontal design was inspired by the fourth-generation Supra but has a more expressive look. The vehicle’s low stance is emphasised by a prominent central grille flanked by large air intakes, which are essential for engine cooling. The distinctive headlight units feature a six-lens LED arrangement incorporating the indicators and Daytime Running Lights (DRL). The rear combination lamps feature a purposeful structure with the turn, tail, and stop functions integrated into the distinctive main ring shape. The Supra’s gauge cluster features an 8.8-inch colour Thin Film Transistor (TFT) LCD with an analogue tachometer in the centre and a digital speedometer on the left side, creating a sporty image that reflects the vehicle’s racing heritage. A 1.8-inch full-colour Head-Up Display (HUD) provides various driver-focused information, while a further 8.8-inch widescreen touch display located on the dashboard contains the navigation system, which can also be operated via remote control on the centre console, enabling easy fingertip access without disturbing driving posture. Additional features include a back monitor with guidelines, a dual-zone automatic air conditioning system and a JBL 12-speaker HiFi Surround Sound system with a seven-channel amplifier. As with all Toyota vehicles, safety is paramount. The GR Supra is equipped with a comprehensive array of safety and convenience features, such as all-round airbags, vehicle stability control, traction control, anti-lock braking system, brake assist, electronic parking brake, tyre pressure monitor system, and hill-start assist control, among many others. This campaign was organised as part of Zubair Corporation’s CSR initiative, which covers all its employees. The campaign commenced as per the guidelines and protocols approved by the Ministry of Health and in cooperation with Badr Al Samaa Hospitals, which are spread across the various governorates of the Sultanate. Commenting on this campaign, Hilal Al Siyabi, Chief Corporate Services Officer at the Zubair Corporation stated, “We have launched a vaccination campaign with the Pfizer vaccine for all employees of the Zubair Corporation and its subsidiaries and we aim through this campaign to encourage them to take the vaccination to return to normal work life. The only way to limit the spread of the COVID-19 virus is vaccination, adhering to all health instructions, including wearing a face mask,

ROUND-UP

All-new Montero Sport adopts a more powerful yet refined exterior design

The new model is designed with a more robust powerful appearance providing the vehicle with a tougher look while complemented with a refreshed interior that delivers a luxurious and comfortable feel

MUSCAT: General Automotive Company (GAC), the official distributor of Mitsubishi vehicles in Oman, in its first-ever online only event, officially launched the all-new Mitsubishi Montero Sport in July 2020 in Oman.

The new model is designed with a more robust powerful appearance providing the vehicle with a tougher look while complemented with a refreshed interior that delivers a luxurious and comfortable feel.

The all-new Montero Sport adopts a more powerful yet refined exterior design. Mitsubishi's signature Dynamic Shield front view design concept has been further evolved from its predecessor on the new Montero Sport to secure better visibility. It also emphasises the sense of wideness with the headlights continuing from the front grille and the combination lamps at the bumper corners. The higher bonnet of the vehicle exhibits a deeper front face, while a more solid, powerful chrome part design projects a more refined, sophisticated appearance.

Commenting on the Montero Sport, Zuwaina Al Azri said, "In addition to its new exterior and interior design, the Mitsubishi Montero Sport is also equipped with some of the most advanced features ever in a Mitsubishi, both for convenience and safety. With these combined enhancements, the Mitsubishi Montero Sport has been specifically designed to appeal to every driver's desire for exploration and adventure while elevating their journey to new heights as well as ensuring the drive experience is always fun and worry-free."

The Montero Sport's bold exterior is complemented with a refreshed interior that delivers high quality and comfort, together with advanced functionality.

The entire floor console has been refreshed and soft padded interior door handles enhance the overall interior look with quality and comfort. The storage tray that sits under the floor console can now be accessible from both, the left and right sides. A new power outlet has also been added to the existing USB plug on the rear console panel offering improved usability for all passengers.

The Montero Sport is also brimming with technology, thanks to several advanced and convenient new features. These include the new easy-to-read 8-inch colour digital dash as well as Mitsubishi's 8-inch Smartphone-Link Display Audio (SDA) system. Also included is the Mitsubishi Remote Control - a smartphone application that offers several functions that facilitate ease of access and added security. It will send a notification to the driver's smartphone to lock the doors via the app when the driver leaves the vehicle with the doors unlocked.

The Power Tailgate can be opened or closed by smartphone. In addition, the tailgate reservation system can be pre-set by a smartphone anywhere, which enables the driver to open or close the tailgate automatically when he/she approaches or leaves the vehicle. This keyless operation system is effective within the Bluetooth operating range. The aforementioned Power Tailgate brings another new hands-free feature that allows owners to open the tailgate by placing the foot under the rear bumper.

"Even with its refined and high-quality exterior design and comfortable interior, the Montero Sport remains a full-feature off-road SUV that retains the best aspects of Mitsubishi's renowned SUV prowess; while bringing with it a higher level of performance thanks to a number of improvements and new technologies incorporated throughout the vehicle," added Zuwaina.

Despite being infused with sedan-like comfort and functionality, the Montero Sport inherits Mitsubishi's renowned off-road capability, reliability, and durability. Powering the Montero Sport is a 3.0L MIVEC V6 gasoline engine that produces 215hp@6,000rpm and 285Nm@4,000rpm; all the power that one may require of a rugged SUV to accomplish every mission with smooth, efficient ease. This is mated to Mitsubishi's 8-speed automatic transmission that delivers a smoother, more luxurious ride and improved fuel efficiency. It even features Sporty paddle shifters that allow the driver to shift gears with just a press, and without having to remove either hand from the steering wheel.

The Montero Sport also retains the Super-Select 4WD-II system that delivers optimal traction regardless of driving surface together with confidence-inspiring handling characteristics. This is further complemented by other advanced features such as Hill Descent Control, selectable 2WD and 4WD modes, intelligent assistance in challenging conditions, and an Off-road Mode that enhances traction and provides even better all-terrain performance and stability on demanding surfaces.

The Montero Sport also comes with a very comprehensive list of active and passive safety features. Mitsubishi's RISE (Reinforced Impact Safety Evolution) body design and a total of up to seven SRS airbags provide occupants with outstanding passive safety. Active safety features include a Forward Collision Mitigation system (FCM), which helps prevent a frontal collision or reduce damage if the collision becomes unavoidable; Blind Spot Warning system (BSW), together with Lane Change Assist (LCA), that uses ultrasonic sensors to detect vehicles in rear blind spots with warning indicators on either side mirrors; Rear Cross Traffic Alert (RCTA), that uses sensors to detect rear cross-traffic when reversing and warns the driver of an impending collision; and the Ultrasonic mis acceleration Mitigation System (UMS), that helps prevent collisions while parking by sounding a buzzer and displaying a warning if the front or rear sensors detect a nearby obstacle in your path, going so far as to even control engine output if the driver suddenly accelerates by accident. The Montero Sport also now includes a Multi-view camera system that limits blind spots when parking the vehicle.

The Mitsubishi Montero is available at all GAC showroom across Oman and is available in eight colours and two trim levels - GLS and GLS Premium.
